

Tomorrow's News Today - Atlanta

A site dedicated to keeping its readers in the know on the goings on of Atlanta retail, properties and eateries.

Monday,
February
1, 2010

Finally, Some Good News! BirthWatch 2010

While this blog has been reporting a lot of sad news, closings and such, there are some exciting openings and expansions planned for Atlanta's restaurants, retail and hotels in the coming months. The following are a few of the notable developments currently on the books or with intense speculation. And hey, maybe I missed something, maybe you're opening something, either way, leave me a comment and give me your thoughts.

Shaun Doty's Burger concept (West Midtown) Officially announced to be opening but with an as yet unknown name. Set to be located in the former West Egg at White Provisions, the restaurant joins a growing number of exciting eateries in West Midtown such as Miller Union, Urban P18 and Bacchanalia. It's expected that one way or another the restaurant will be open by year end.

[editorial]

[The Reynolds Group Inc.] [www.thereynoldsgroupinc.com]