

july 13, 2010

atlanta | mashburn, baby, burn.

they say behind every man is a great woman. but in this case, she's right across the street. the ann mashburn boutique has landed in the westside urban market.

sitting just opposite the courtyard from husband sid mashburn's longstanding men's shop, the inside is a light-bathed airy space—everything a modern southern belle needs to combat this oppressive summer heat. pick up breezy cynthia rowley frocks, figure-flattering denim from A.P.C., shoes from nicole richie's house of harlow, and even the hippest sunnies from persol. and like her man sid does for the fellas, ann offers the gals an in-house line of foolproof basics that are destined to be your wear-them-forever standbys including menswear-ish shirtdresses and funky tie-dye tees. with much more rolling out for fall, better get acquainted with mrs. mashburn now.

let's hear it for the girl. ann mashburn. 1198 howell mill road. at huff. 404.350.7132.

www.annmashburn.com